Program Goals

This program has been designed to provide participants with newly published guidelines and regulations related to developing a comprehensive and effective infection prevention surveillance program in the long-term care setting.

Program Objectives

At the completion of the program, the participants will be able to:

- Discuss the principles of microbiology as they relate to the Infection Preventionist in the Long Term Care setting.
- Discuss the processes involved in implementing an Antibiotic Stewardship Program in Long Term Care.
- Discuss the elements of developing an Infection Prevention program in Long Term Care in accordance with newly mandated requirements.
- Discuss the New York State Department of Health's risk reduction initiatives for Carbapenem-Resistant Enterobacteriaceae in Long Term Care.

This Continuing Nursing Education Activity was approved by the Northeast Multi-State Division, an Accredited Approver by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.
